Meet the Governors Governor Profile

TREVOR MELTON

Teaching Staff Governor

Member of Standards Committee

Trevor trained as an engineer at Rolls-Royce in Derby, saw the light and changed direction to study photography at Nottingham Trent Polytechnic. Moved to London where he had fourteen successful years as an advertising photographer and then relocated to Nottingham in 1992 continuing to work commercially and also running a part-time photography school.

Having always combined professional practice with education, Trevor moved into full-time education in 1997, as Course Coordinator for the HND in Photography at South Nottingham College. After ten years at SNC (the last two years adding the role of Staff Governor) he moved to Bilborough College as Curriculum Leader for Photography.

His family, the dogs (two Great Danes) and his Harley Davidson are at the centre of his life – the dogs and the Harley often featuring in his teaching materials!
